The coming St. Louis show ought to be a pretty good one. The managers say they have $17,000,000 in bank and in sight.

The Plow Trust has advanced the price of plows 10 per cent. It proposes to get a part of the wheat surplus which the farmers have this year.

When John L. Sullivan, of New York, heard that Carrie Nation was coming to see him he played sick. We don't blame him. He had seen her pictures in the papers.

Senator Deboe, of Kentucky, has taken the head of one woman postmaster and is going with his hatchet for another. Perhaps he thinks the women have no business fooling with males.

The Smiths, of New Jersey, met in family convention at Peapack, in that State, a few days ago. There were five or six thousand of them there and it wasn't right good meeting weather, either.

Since the inauguration of Governor Candler, of Georgia, eleven months ago, $8,575 have been offered in rewards for escaped criminals. It got some of them, and Judge Lynch got some more without offering any reward.

John Phillips, the Democratic nominee for Governor of Iowa, is a self made man. Up to 1884 he worked for wages as a miner in Missouri. Then he was made manager of a fuel company.

It is said that Mark Hanna will take the stump in Ohio in October. At first the stump business went rather against Mark, but since he has become a little used to it he takes to it without compulsion.

Statistics show that while Scotland's population has nearly doubled since 1840, Ireland's population has fallen off about one half. Landlordism and British discrimination are what have done the depopulating work for Ireland.

The denizens of Rochester, N. Y., are puzzled over the case of a handsome young woman who permitted herself to be inveigled into eloping with "a legless, penniless old fossil." Perhaps he hypnotized her.

The St. Paul Press, Republican, dosen't see why, if 75,000,000 United States people could get three-cent sugar and better cigars for less money, by the annexation of Cuba, they should be thwarted by less than a hundred thousand sugar and tobacco men. Neither do we. But the 75,000,000 do not pool their issues and manipulate statesmen like the sugar and tobacco men do.

TAX COMPUTATION COMPLETE.

Books of County Will be Turned Over to Sheriff Early This Week.

Mr. T. O. Bunting and assistants, who have been engaged the past two weeks or more in computing the tax books of the county for the current year, yesterday completed their task and turned over the books to the County Commissioners for examination this week. The usual abstracts were also made out and forwarded to the State Auditor.

No figures as to increase of valuation or the total property value could be secured yesterday from the Register of Deeds and none will be forthcoming until the books are passed upon by the Commissioners. It is learned, however, that the increase is about one and a half million dollars in round numbers.

The amounts will be in the hands of the sheriff for collection early this week.

AN EXHIBITION GAME.

Wilmington Professionals Played the High School Champions at Hilton Yesterday.

CONTEST VERY INTERESTING.

League Team is No More—Players Have Been Paid and Are Leaving for Other Engagements—Some of Them Will Remain Here.

Wilmington's professional baseball club made its last appearance on the diamond in an exhibition game for the benefit of the players at Hilton Park yesterday afternoon. The Wilmington High School Champions were pitted against them, and though they played clever ball, a score of twelve to three tells how they were outclassed. Sweeney, Sellers and Zellers composed the battery for the amateurs and Clayton, McGinnis, Warren and Frost each did a turn in the pitcher's box for the Leaguers. Thackara held them behind the bat.

Though not brilliant, the game was intensely interesting, and some fine individual records were made. McGinnis made a phenomenal running catch that caught the grand stand, and Wescott also made a brilliant field play. Zeller's work as back stop was really clever, bordering upon the professional.

The line up of the teams was as follows:

Professionals—Thackara, c.; Clayton, McGinnis, Frost and Warren, p.; Dommel, 1b.; Devlin, 2b.; Allen, ss.; Warren, 3b.; Hopkins, rf.; McGinnis and Clayton, cf.; Frost, lf.

High School—Zellers, c.; Sweeney and Sellers, p.; Watson, 1b; Green, 3b; Chadwick, ss.; Sellers and Sweeney, 3b; Heide, rf.; McIntire, cf.; Wescott, cf.

"Good Night at Parting Is Such Sweet Sorrow."

— "Farewell, Brother Crawford."

— The Hot Shots had no professionals to help them out. Hence the unequal score of 12 to 3.

— Good by, boys. In the language of the immortal Rip Van Winkle: "May you live long and prosper."

— The High Schoolers are a promising set of youngsters, and with more growth and practice will become good players.

— The High Steppers were fearfully outclassed, playing against the full Wilmington team; but they made a plucky fight.

— The Giants had Clayton, McGinnis, Frost and Warren doing their box work. Sweeney and Sellers pitched for the Hot Shots.

—McGinnis and Allen are still here, and Thackara expects to return at the close of his short engagement with the Newbern club.

— There is a very strong element here in favor of a baseball league of some sort next year, but it is too early to speculate as to the outcome.

— The applause was not at all like the handle of a jug. The spectators were very much divided in sympathy; but every good play was heartily cheered.

— The salaries of the Wilmington team were paid in full yesterday. As heretofore stated in the STAR, Clayton, Devlin, Frost, Warren, Thackara and Hopkins go to the Newbern team for about a week.

— The attendance was not very large; but those who are "faithful unto death" were there to see the last ball thrown and the last run made. One and all, they part with the players with regret. They have enjoyed the games and hope to have a repetition of the sport next season.

BAD NEGRO ESCAPED.

Dug His Way Out of the City Prison On Friday Afternoon.

Isaac Jones, the bad negro from Navassa who was captured a few nights ago after an exciting chase through the business section of the city, made his escape from the city guard house Friday afternoon between 5 and 6 o'clock by digging his way through a brick floor under a door leading from the corridor of the prison to the band room at the southwestern corner of the building. The police kept the matter of the negro's escape very quiet for the time being with a hope of recapturing him, but thus far all efforts in that direction have been in vain.

Dance at Seashore Hotel.

The last week-end dance of the season was given last night at the Seashore Hotel, and was enjoyed by about fifty couples. The music was by Hollowbush's Orchestra, which expects to leave after to-day, its contract having expired for the season. The hotel, however, will be open until September 15, and any vacant room in the building will be let, with board, for $10 per week.

SOUTHPORT WILL CELEBRATE LABOR DAY.

An Elaborate Programme Prepared—A Day Full of Interest and Amusement is Assured.

All roads including two steamboat lines will lead to Southport to-morrow.

The occasion, of course, is the Labor Day celebration and with good weather the crowd will no doubt be large and the enthusiasm great. Wilmington will have no celebration of her own and many will depend for their desires in the way of celebration upon the wide awake people of their neighbor city. The programme prepared by them is very elaborate and a day full of interest and amusement is assured.

For the occasion the steamers Wilmington and Compton will run a double schedule—two trips each way—at hours admirably suited to the wishes of the public. The Wilmington will leave on her first trip at 9 A. M. and the last at 6 P. M. The return trips will be at 2 P. M. and 9:30 P. M. On the evening boat the Second Regiment Band of this city will go down and give an open air concert in Franklin Square at Southport. The Compton will leave for her first trip at 8:30 A. M., and the last at 2 P. M. Returning from Southport, she expects to leave at 8:30 P. M. The fare on both boats will be twenty-five cents for the round trip.

Mr. C. Ed. Taylor, of Southport, who was in the city yesterday was very enthusiastic over the proposed celebration and invited the people of Wilmington generally to come down and spend the day.

The day's exercises will begin with a street parade at 11 A. M., which will be formed on the "Garrison." The march will be to Franklin Square, headed by the Southport Cornet Band. After selections by the band, at 11:20 there will be scripture reading and prayer by the Rev. E. J. Edwards, of Southport, followed by a welcome address at 11:30 A. M. by Acting Mayor E. N. Cranmer, Esq. This will be followed by an introduction of Col. A. M. Waddell, the orator of the day, by Robert W. Davis, Esq. Col. Waddell's address will conclude the forenoon programme and at 12:40 o'clock the afternoon exercises will be begun with a tug of war between the Naval Reserves, of Wilmington, and a team of Southport athletes. Ten minutes later there will follow exercises in pole vaulting and greased pole climbing, all of the exercises being interspersed with music by the Southport Band. At fifteen and twenty minute intervals there will follow a string contest by children, 100 yards dash, standing broad jump, running broad jump, tug of war by children, running high jump, standing high jump and children walking greased bar, hurdle race, greased pig chase, etc.

At 3:40 o'clock the boat races will begin on the river and a baseball game between selected teams on the "Garrison." At 5:10 the crowd will again assemble on Franklin Square when the championship basket ball game will begin between the Naval Reserves and Boys' Brigade. From this time until 6:55 P. M. when the Southport band will give a twilight concert, the interim will be filled in by a potato race, string contest by children, relay race and sack race, barrel race and three-legged race. An amateur minstrel performance will be the attraction at 6:30 P. M. and at 8:40 o'clock the concert by the Second Regiment Band of Wilmington will begin. The closing feature of the exercises will be a "decorated greased pig chased by a clown in illuminated arena" at 9 o'clock.

Labor Day in Wilmington will be noticeable by a closing of many business houses and offices, notably the banks, Produce Exchange and institutions of like character. Holiday hours will be observed at the postoffice as follows: General delivery and stamp windows open from 9 to 10 A. M. and 6 to 7 P. M. Registry department open from 9 to 10 A. M. The early morning collection, and one delivery will be made by the carriers.

THE NAVAL RESERVES ARE OFF.

Left for Three Days' Outing On the Hornet Yesterday Afternoon.

The Naval Reserves left yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock aboard the Hornet for their annual outing at Southport. There were only about twenty-five members of the division aboard when the boat left but others will go down to-day and join their shipmates for the outing. The commissioned officers aboard are as follows:

Commander — Lieutenant H. M. Chase.
Lieutenant—R. H. McKoy.
Navigator—Captain T. M. Morse.
Chief Engineer—Walter Furlong.

Capt. A. L. DeRosset was a guest of the party down the river.

Died at Hahira, Ga.

Mrs. Alex. S. Holden received the sad news by telegraph yesterday of the death of her little neice, Blanche Owens, aged four years, which occurred at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Owens, Hahira, Ga. The death was very sudden, but no particulars have yet been received.

THE COTTON SEASON.

Old Crop Year Closed Yesterday and the New Will Begin To-morrow.

RECEIPTS AT WILMINGTON.

Owing to Shortness of Production There is a Falling Off of About 24,000 Bales—First Tramp Steamer Arrived Yesterday.

The cotton crop year for 1900-1901 closed yesterday and the new season begins to-morrow.

The receipts at the port of Wilmington for the past fiscal year were 258,554 bales against 282,360 in the year immediately preceding. It is seen, therefore, that there is a falling off in the number of bales handled here by nearly 24,000, but this does not indicate a decrease in the cotton business of the city. The crop for the season just ended was a very short one and doubtless compared with the production in Wilmington's territory. The port has received a larger percentage of the yield in the country contiguous than on the year previous when there was a more abundant production.

The domestic exports for the year ended yesterday were 36,020 bales while the foreign shipments amounted to 223,705 bales. The corresponding figures for the year previous are 14,550 bales and 274,710 bales.

The opening of the cotton season in Wilmington means a rejuvenation of business in all lines and it is always hailed with delight by everybody. The first new crop cotton of the year came in yesterday from over the W., C. & A. railroad. The shipments amounted to ten bales, but from now on they will be on the steady increase and the compresses in the city will present a lively scene. Everybody concedes that the crop will be very short again this year, but there will be enough of the fleecy staple on the market in at few days to convince the general public that not all the production has been cut off. Last September when the season opened cotton was quoted at 9 cents for middling and this year September 1st, finds the quotations on a basis of 8¼ cents.

The first tramp steamship for a cargo of cotton for the foreign trade came in yesterday. She is the Torgorm and will perhaps take the first cargo from a South Atlantic port. She is now at quarantine down the Cape Fear, but will likely come up to the city to-day or to-morrow.

GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION.

Calling Upon All Citizens of the State to Observe Labor Day.

[Special Star Telegram.]

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 31.—Governor Aycock to-day issued a proclamation calling upon all citizens of the State to observe Monday, September 2d, as Labor Day. He requests all places of business where labor is employed to close, to let the employed enjoy a day of rest and thanksgiving. He says "Let us foster and strengthen that confidence between those we employ and those who work which is essential to the peace of the State and the best interest of everybody."

It is the first Labor Day proclamation ever issued in this State.

Boy Kicked by Mule.

David, the 7-year-old son of Mr. Sol J. Jones, who lives in East Wilmington, was severely injured late Friday afternoon by being kicked by a mule attacked to a cart and driven along a road near which the boy was playing. One of the little fellow's legs was broken by the kick of the mule, and before the driver could stop the animal the cart passed over the boy's body, severely bruising one of his hips. Dr. W. J. H. Bellamy is attending the wounded lad.

Maxton vs. Red Springs.

The Maxton "Red Shirts" defeated Red Springs in a game of baseball on Friday by a score of 12 to 1. The batteries were McCaskiss and Weatherly for Maxton; Block, McKinnon, Brown and Williams for Red Springs. A correspondent writes that McCaskiss struck out twenty men, while McKinnon struck out nine. The umpire was Mr. H. P. Beston; scorers, Messrs. E. Purcell and D. Freezeland.

Second Advent Church.

Elder J. P. King, pastor of the Second Advent church, this city, is just back from an extended trip through Georgia and Florida. This morning at 11 o'clock and this evening at 8 o'clock he will hold special services at his church, which promise to be very entertaining. At the night service his text will be from the Songs of Solomon: "Follow in the footsteps of the flock."

New Superintendent Coming.

Dr. Thomas R. Little, the newly-elected superintendent of the James Walker Memorial Hospital, is expected to arrive in the city to-day and to assume charge of the institution to-morrow. He will be the guest upon his arrival of his cousin, Mr George S. LeGrand, of this city.

Aldermen Will Not Meet.

There will be no meeting of the Board of Aldermen to-morrow afternoon as usual on account of the Labor Day holiday and the absence of Mayor Waddell at Southport. The Board will meet and adjourn to a subsequent date.

A VERY SAD FUNERAL.

Remains of Little Marion Murchison Sprunt Tenderly Laid to Rest in Oakdale Yesterday—Great Bereavement.

The remains of little Marion Murchison Sprunt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Sprunt, whose very sad death of scarlet fever at Asheville, N. C., was chronicled in these columns yesterday morning, reached Wilmington at 7:40 o'clock last night via the A. & Y. railroad and were immediately taken to Oakdale cemetery and laid to rest in Col. Murchison's mausoleum.

The remains were accompanied to the city by the little girl's grandfather, Col. K. M. Murchison, Mr. Fred Kidder and Mr. J. W. Murchison, the last named having joined the party at Black Mountain. From the nature of the disease with which the little one died, the utmost precautions to the public health were taken, all details of the very stringent laws having been scrupulously complied with. The hermetically sealed casket was taken from the cars at the Ninth street crossing of the railroad and accompanied by members of the family and a few friends it was borne tenderly to Oakdale. Here a word of prayer was very briefly spoken at nightfall by the Rev. Dr. Alexander Sprunt, of Charleston, S. C., who arrived yesterday on account of the very deep bereavement visited upon the family. The funeral, while very simple, was extremely touching.

At 9 o'clock last night telegrams from Mr. James Sprunt to his brother, Mr. W. H. Sprunt reported that the condition of little Lawrence, brother of the little sister who had just been laid to rest, was unchanged, but all were hopeful. His physicians say he is seriously ill but there is hope of recovery. Of course his condition would not admit of Mr. and Mrs. Sprunt's accompanying the remains of their little daughter home. There are attending little Lawrence, Drs. F. H. Russell and E. J. Wood, of this city, and Dr. Battle, a prominent physician of Asheville. Three trained nurses are also exercising their tenderest care toward the little fellow's welfare.

Annual Election Postponed.

On account of the holiday Monday and the contemplated absence of many of the members at Southport, there will be no annual election of officers of the Boys' Brigade to-morrow night. The election will be held on the following Monday night. Members have been notified that they need not attend drill to-morrow night.

— As the STAR employs no travelling agents, bills are sent direct to subscribers. These bills should receive prompt attention.

The Morning Star.

BY WILLIAM H. BERNARD

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 1.

BEST FOR BOTH.

Bishop Turner, colored, of Georgia, has long been the zealous advocate of the deportation of the negroes of the South as the solution, and the only solution, of the race problem. There are among intelligent and educated negroes some who agree with him and some who differ from him, but those who differ from him do so either because they believe it will be better for the negroes to remain close to the white man, whose example and assistance are necessary for the elevation and betterment of the race, or because they do not believe there is any section of the world where the negro could be as advantageously and comfortably located as he is in this.

Bishop Turner has had his gaze fixed upon South Africa, as the prospective domicile of the race, but the very poor success which has followed the efforts of benevolent men to establish a negro Republic in that part of the world did not give much encouragement to Bishop Turner's scheme. Liberia was a failure, and while there has been more or less talk about it, stimulated by the Bishop's persistent advocacy of emigration, it has never seemed to attract the negroes of the South, although several hundred of them have been enticed to go by emigration agents who made some money out of the work they did. Many of those negroes have managed to find their way back, glad to get back, and have told doleful tales about what they had to go through in the negro Republic. With the accounts that have been given of it there is little disposition among Southern negroes to venture in that part of the world and unless there should be some great change there probably never will be.

As we understand him, Bishop Turner is not advocating a negro exodus because of antipathy to the white man, but because he believes that separation of the races will be best for both the white man and for the negro. It would surely be the best for the white man and would be for the negro if he could find the right kind of a domicile where he could work out his destiny without danger of relapsing into barbarism. To escape this he would need the presence of intelligent, educated negroes to act as guardians or white men whose counsel and example would have a restraining, elevating influence. There is one thing as sure as the rising and setting of the sun or the flow and ebb of the tides, and that is that as long as the negroes of the South inhabit the same territory as the white men, their former masters, they must occupy a subordinate, humble position. The more thrifty of them may accumulate money and become possessors of property which may secure them more or less consideration and respect, but they will always be negroes, the line will always be drawn between them and the white man. Bishop Turner realizes this, as does every other intelligent, thinking negro, but he having more sense than a good many others who believe they can by statute or persistency break down a barrier erected by nature, accepts the inevitable and labors to make others see it as he does.

He believes the white people of the South should see it as he does, too, and encourage the negroes to look to Africa. He argues that if a way were opened into Africa millions of the black race now in America would follow it and the South would be rid, without friction, of an element of population now a mere dead weight on its political and industrial progress. This is true as far as the removal of the dead weight goes, but if the way were opened and the millions followed as the Bishop says they would, wouldn't it be the most pushing, persevering, industrious and thrifty that would go first, leaving the shiftless and worthless behind, as much or more of a "dead weight" than ever?

Heretofore the Bishop in advocacating an exodus has been handicapped by the fact that he had his thoughts centered on South Africa, which did not present attractions enough as a land for settlement, but he may take fresh courage with the apparent success that is being met with in the culture of cotton and other plants in the German territory in West Africa, which is said to much resemble part of the cotton belt of the South. It is also said that the area adapted to the culture there is about a third larger than the total cotton area of the South. If this be true doesn't it present a field where there is room for and might offer welcome to the Southern negro, who knows something about cotton, for that is the kind of settlers that region wants. We read something from some enthusiast a few days ago in which he exclaimed that the success of cotton culture in West Africa was the happy solution of the race problem in the United States, and he gave Kaiser William credit for it.

Now if Bishop Turner and others who agree with him could prevail on Kaiser William to extend an invitation to negroes of other countries to emigrate to Africa, and would offer them the inducement of free gift farms of reasonable size, or do as Russia does with her Siberian colonists, sell them the land at a small price and give them plenty of time to pay for it, and follow Russia's example further by helping them to equip their farms with the necessary implements and stock, perhaps the Bishop's long advocated exodus might begin, and be followed up until the negroes in the South might be pretty well thinned out. By that time there would be plenty of white people to take their places, and both white and black, as Bishop Turner says, might be benefited.

Whether this may come to pass, no one is prophet enough to foresee, but if it should it would be an unlooked for and happy solution of the race problem.

HOWISON AND HACKETT.

The Howison-Hackett correspondence in reference to the opinions expressed by Admiral Howison on the Schley-Sampson dispute, published yesterday, is unique and creditable to neither of the writers. It has been publicly alleged that in conversation with a reporter of the Boston Record shortly after the battle at Santiago Admiral Howison showed himself such a partisan of Admiral Sampson that grave doubts arose as to whether he could divest himself of his partiality when sitting as a judge.

In his letter to Acting Secretary Hackett, he does not deny having expressed such opinions but says he has no recollection of such a gentleman as the reporter of the Record and does not approve of his public statement attributed to him (Howison). This is not a denial of the alleged fact that he had expressed the opinions objected to but simply that he expressed them for publication. He admits having expressed opinions, and substantially that he had expressed them in favor of Sampson, for he does not deny that, but asserts that notwithstanding he could render a verdict "without partiality," as the law requires. He could not have said anything else without branding himself as either a very conscienceless judge or a very obdurate partisan.

But notwithstanding his three "personal" paragraphs in the conclusion of his letter, he admits that he is glad of the opportunity to sit as a judge in this case, when he says: "As it is a case of grave importance to those concerned and to the country, I am desirous of giving my little help to clear away the troubles." He is desirous of giving his little help," etc., and therefore he had no idea of retiring voluntarily and would have been very much disappointed if another had been named in his place.

It is not surprising that Admiral Schley's counsel should be dissatisfied with this letter of Admiral Howison.

But Hackett's letter in reply is even worse, and borders on the ridiculous. It is less candid for it takes Howison's letter as a "substantial denial" of the allegations when it is no such thing, taffies Howison, and congratulates the Department on its "good fortune" in selecting him as a member of the court.

In conclusion he says if the letter were not a "personal" one he would give it to the Judge Advocate, but that didn't prevent him from giving it to the public through the newspapers, without waiting to see if Admiral Howison "had any objection."

This whole business, we repeat, is creditable to neither Howison nor Hackett, the former of whom shows himself lacking in sense of propriety, and unfit to perform the duties that must devolve upon him, the latter of whom is not fit to be in a position where he so exposes his bias and lack of official decency.

Is this to be another Dreyfus case?

NORTH CAROLINA'S POPULATION.

The following in reference to the population of North Carolina, as reported by the last U. S. census, was sent by the Washington correspondent of the Raleigh Post, from which we clip it:

"Woman is in the majority in North Carolina according to the figures given out to-day by the census office. There are 955,133 of "her" while of the men there 938,677 or 50.4 per cent female and 49.6 males.

"Raleigh has nearly one thousand more women than men, the figures being males 6,362, females 7,373 She has 5,721 negroes in her borders, of whom 2,523 are males and 3,198 are females. Her white population consists of 3,616 native white males, 3,904 native white females, 10 foreign born white males.

"There are 1,363,603 whites and 630,207 negroes in the State in which are included 5,687 Indians. Of the whites of native and foreign birth the male aggregate 632,158 and the females 631,448, and of the negroes the males number 306,532 and the females 323,615.

"Of the population of the State the whites, constitute 66.7 per cent. and the negroes 33.3."

The disparity in numbers between the sexes seems to be mainly among the negroes, attributable, we suppose, to the large number of men who have gone to other States to work in the turpentine forests, &c., and the number of rovers who come and go and have no fixed habitation. With about one negro to every two white persons, we have enough, however, for all practicable purposes.

Young Mothers

Stand in special need of help while the baby is being nursed. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription not only strengthens the woman for motherhood and makes the birth hour practically painless, but it increases the nutritive secretions on which the child is fed. It soothes the nerves, encourages the appetite and rapidly restores the mother to robust health. There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription," neither opium, cocaine, nor any other narcotic.

"I wish to let you know the great benefit my wife derived through taking your 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Mr. Robert Harden, of Brandon, Manitoba, Box 236. "It was a case of childbirth. We had heard so much of it that my wife decided to try it. (I may say my wife is thirty-three and this was her first child.) She commenced to take 'Favorite Prescription' five months before her child was born. We have a fine, healthy girl, and we believe that this was mainly owing to the 'Favorite Prescription' taken faithfully according to directions. We shall certainly recommend it wherever we can."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets put the bowels in a healthy condition.

TOO MUCH LYNCH LAW.

Prompt and Speedy Justice the Remedy.

WILMINGTON, N. C. Aug. 30th, 1901.

Editor STAR,

Dear Sir:—

We hardly take up a paper but what we see where some one has been lynched in the United States. And they don't confine lynching to just one crime, but several. I know the aggravation is great where some crimes are committed, but I certainly think it would be better for all of us, if people could be punished by law rather than by lynching. If our Sheriffs would summon a large number of deputies as soon as they hear of such crimes being committed, arrest the criminal as soon as possible, and notify the Governor immediately and let him send a Judge, convene Court and try the criminal immed'ately and if his guilt is estab lished, have him hung within five days from time, I am satisfied that this would be much better than the present system. I am as anxious to have men, black or white, punished for crimes as any person can be, but when we throw away law and order, and take the law in our own hands, we are drifting toward lawlessness. All races have more or less people in them who are on the lawless order, and they can only be held in by the better element moulding public opinion in favor of law and order. What is civilization worth unless we can have some way to make people obey laws I am writing this hoping it will put people to thinking, and do some good in the way of protecting law and order. I think on this line all our merchants, and in fact all our citizens, and especially our most intelligent citizens, should ask for their names to be put in the jury box, and no man claim exemption from jury duty. We need all our best men on the juries, and need them on the Grand Jury as well as on the petit jury. Many times I think a jury has gone wrong when if there had been one or two men of good business capacity on it, it would have gone right.

Respectfully,

D. L. GORE.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— The German newspapers keep on boycotting American goods, and American exports to the German empire keep on increasing. From 1870 to 1901 the increase is from $42,000,000, to $191,000,000. —Augusta Chronicle, Dem.

—— Two facts militate heavily against a too rapid increase of the navy, to wit: The failure to take proper care of the vessels already in service, and the inability of the Navy Department to get men enough to man new vessels.—Philadelphia Record, Dem.

—— The Republicans deprived Washington City of the privilege of suffrage because of the large negro majority, and they will have real problems in Hawaii, Porto Rico, Sulu and the Philippines. Is there any question how the Republicans will settle those problems? Will they put the negro or the brown man on top?—Newport News Herald, Dem.

—— The product of sugar from beets has grown so large as to leave the cane product very far behind, but there is still a big thing in the cultivation of cane, particularly in this latitude, where cane grows luxuriantly. The railroad companies that are engaged in providing homes in the South for settlers will do well to make large efforts to encourage sugar cane growing.—Mobile Register, Dem.

TELLING THE BEES.

EUGENE FIELD.

Out of the house where the slumberer lay,
Grandfather came one summer day,
And under the pleasant orchard trees
He spake thus wise to the murmuring bees:

"The clover bloom that kissed her feet
And the posy bed where she use to play,
Have honey store, but none so sweet
As ere our little one went away.
O bees, sing soft, and bees, sing low;
For she is gone who loved you so."

A wonder fell on the listening bees,
Under these pleasant orchard trees,
And in their toil that summer day
Even their murmuring seemed to say:

"Child, O child, the grass is cool,
And the posies are waking to hear the song
Of the bird that swings by the shaded pool,
Waiting for one that tarrieth long."

'Twas so they called to the little one then,
As if to call her back again.

O gentle bees, I have come to say
That grandfather fell asleep to day,
And we knew by the smile on grandfather's face,
He has found his dear one's biding place.

So, bees, sing soft, and, bees, sing low,
As over the honey fields you sweep—
To the trees abloom and the flowers ablow
Sing of grandfather fast asleep;
And ever beneath these orchard trees
Find cheer and shelter, gentle bees.

OFFICE OF D. H. HARDY, Sec. of State, AUSTIN, TEX., NOV. 23, 1900.

I have found Dr. Moffett's TEETHINA a splendid remedy and aid for my teething children. When my oldest boy a teething child, every succeeding day warned us that we would inevitably lose him. I happened upon TEETHINA, and began at once administering it to him, and his improvement was marked in 24 hours, and from that day on he recuperated. I have constantly kept it and used it since with my children, and have taken great pleasure in sounding its praises to all mothers of young children. I found it invaluable even after the teething period was passed

MRS. D. A. HARDY.

MRS. ELMER FLEMING, of Minneapolis, Minn., writes from 2535 Polk street, N. E.:

"I have been troubled all my life with catarrh. I took Peruna for about three months, and now think I am permanently cured. I believe that for catarrh in all its forms Peruna is the medicine of the age. It cures when all other remedies fail."

Mrs. C. Nickel, Hebron, Neb., writes: "I suffered from weakness for ten years. The least exertion caused me pain in the middle of my chest and difficulty in breathing. When I would awake in the night my heart would palpitate so that I often could not sleep. I took Peruna and now I can do all of my work easily without getting short of breath.

"Peruna is the best medicine for me. It strengthens my nerves. It is just what I need. As long as I use Peruna I do not know anything about weakness.

"I have never found a medicine that makes me feel so strong and vigorous as Peruna. I shall always keep Peruna in the house. It ought to have a place in every home.

"The longer I use it the better I like it. I would not give your book, "The Ills of Life" away for any price if I could not get another."

HOW PERUNA MAKES STRONG NERVES.

Nervousness is due to bloodlessness of nerve centers. To enrich the blood is to cure nervousness. Diseases of the nervous system calls for more blood and better blood. Peruna answers this call by giving the system a perfect supply of pure red blood. Thus it is that Peruna is a natural tonic. It does not temporarily stimulate the nervous system, but permanently invigorates it.

Peruna regulates the supply of blood to the various parts of the system. When one part has more blood than it ought to have, another part is deprived of its natural supply of blood. This sets up all sorts of functional irregularities so common to people who spend much time indoors. Peruna cures these affections by regulating the supply of blood and giving to each part of the system exactly that portion of the blood to which it is entitled.

By producing a natural appetite, correcting digestion and regulating the supply of blood in the system, Peruna removes the cause of a thousand and one maladies very common in warm weather.

The fatigue and languor of hot weather is directly due to impoverished blood. This condition prepares the way for the advent of almost any disease. Peruna protects the system against the ailments of summer by fortifying it with a regular supply of the best blood.

A book entitled "Summer Catarrh" sent free by The Peruna Medicine Co. Columbus, Ohio.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Lumberton Robesonian: Sheriff George B. McLeod, who is in Maxton on business this week, informs us that the cotton crop of that section is estimated at 60 per cent.

— Henderson Gold Leaf: One of the most remarkable stalks of tobacco that we have heard of is the property of Mr. M. S. Duke, of Gillburg. It is 7 feet 2 inches high, 5 feet 5 inches across, and has 34 leaves on it.

— High Point Enterprise: Mr. S. T. Barker has at his home an armchair which is, perhaps, about as old as any piece of furniture in the county. It belonged to 'Squire Green Morgan's wife's grandfather, who lived near Deep River many years ago. It must be 150 years old.

— Newbern Journal: A letter received from Messic, Pamlico county, say that the horse epidemic has broken out again in that section. There were about eight days when no horses were taken but six new cases are reported and it is considered that that means just twenty more horses lost.

— Charlotte News: Charlie McDuffie, colored, mortally wounded in the head. Sam Alexander, colored, shot in the arm. Not serious. The above fatalities tell the story of a night's raid on a watermelon patch on the old Hunter place, about five miles from Charlotte. Mr. J. S. Crenshaw was the gentleman who did the shooting and a double barrelled shot gun loaded with buckshot was the weapon.

— Salisbury Sun: Julius Ellis and James Caldwell, both negroes, were arrested at Cleveland yesterday afternoon and are in jail here to-day to await court next week on the charge of assault with intent to rob. Mr. John Thomas Barber, postmaster at Barber's Junction, was returning to his home through a cut near the junction yesterday afternoon, when the two men halted him. One of them had a knife in his hand, while the other assumed a threatening attitude. Mr. Barber told them that he had no money and they then demanded tobacco. He jumped from the cut and ran. When he had secured help he went in search of the negroes and succeeded in capturing them.

— Raleigh News and Observer: It is now certain that Thomas Rogers, the white man charged with rape at Wilton, was taken from the constable by his friends to keep him from going to jail. It is also believed here that the officer was willing to this, if indeed he did not enter into a conspiracy to secure Rogers' release, and there is strong talk here of the prosecution of Constable Blackley and all those who can be discovered as having part in the affair. The Governor's declaration of his purpose to offer a reward for them has been generally commended. — Senator R. S. Ward, of Plymouth, who was in the city yesterday, tells of a magnificent gift to his town. It is $5,000 for an academy building, and is given by Dr. John Hampton, now of Pennsylvania, a native of Plymouth. He removed to Pennsylvania after the war and amassed a large fortune.

Sharp Man.

"Yes, sir," said the man who was standing with one foot on the wagon hub, chewing a straw, "I'm kind o' glad that feller is goin to move out o' the place. He's too slick. He makes me uneasy."

"Sharp hand at a bargain, eh?" said the traveling man.

"Sharp is no name for it. Why, one time he said he had a nightmare, an the whole town got agitated an took to wonderin how he was goin to use it so as to get the best o' some one in a hoss trade."—Washington Star.

The Volcano.

"A volcano," said the teacher in a Long Island school, "is a mountain and has a crater or deep hole in the center, from which it throws up or emits smoke, fine stones and lava. Now, children, can you tell me what is a volcano?"

"Yes, teacher," said one of the boys. "A volcano is a sick mountain."—New York Post.

A STROLLING SINGER.

He sang along the woodland paths
When all the world was warm and gay;
The birds half mocked him overhead;
The shadows cooled his greenlit way.

The earth was sweet with growing things,
The vintage promised full and fair,
And one with eyes like larkspur buds
And garnered sunshine in her hair

Stood watching by the flex trees,
A glow, a welcome in her eyes.
He sank, too tired at her feet
And smiled through wistful little sighs.

"Dear love," he said, "I cannot live;
I shall not see the morrow's sun,
But I am fortunate to die
While yet my loving is not done.

"And weep no foolish tears for me,
But when the vines with gold are hung,
Think, 'Life was very good to him,
For he had lived and loved and sung.'"
—Charlotte Becker in Ainslee's Magazine.

FIVE MOUNTAIN STORMS.

All Raging at Once In Sight of Virginia City.

"Virginia City," said a man from Nevada to a reporter, "is pretty well up in the world, as any one knows who has ever been there, and there are very few localities in all the Rocky mountain region from which a wider range of country can be taken in at one view. Owing to that fact some very beautiful, striking and unusual sights are frequently seen by the dwellers in that famed city, almost within sounding distance of the clouds. I have witnessed some of them myself, and one in particular I remember. In fact, it was a sight that no one having seen could ever forget. It was a moving panorama, grand, impressive, in the extreme, being no less than five distinct snowstorms raging among the mountains and deserts to the eastward, while in the city not a flake of snow was falling. The storms represented all degrees of fierceness and covered an area of at least 100 miles. The one farthest to the east and at the same time the most northerly one was apparently passing directly over the 40 mile desert. It was as black as a thundercloud, so dense was the whirling body of snow, and was perhaps ten miles in diameter. Any one in the midst of it would have been willing to swear that a snowstorm must be raging over the entire continent, and just to the north of it several tall, stately peaks rose out of the fierce storm and towered above it in the full splendor of sunlight. The high hills that lay beyond the storm were shut off from sight as though by a gigantic black curtain.

"Nearer and to the southward another storm not so black and fierce as the first, but still dense enough to hide all the region behind it, was in less active progress. It crept along toward the east, reaching from the level of the Carson valley upward to the very cloud where it came high in the heavens. Still nearer and between the city and the mountains of Como a lighter storm, yet one only two or three miles in width, passed on its way. Through this the mountain peaks could be seen dimly, as in a thin fog. A mile farther south a fourth snowstorm, smaller in area than even the last one, but as black and temptestuous as the great blizzard that, with the sun touching its crown, was sweeping the 40 mile desert, raged in awful fury. All behind it was hid as with the pall of blackest night. Miles away, farther up to the southward, the fifth storm, a vast and violent one, was sweeping along, covering and hiding a range of 30 miles of high hills.

"Between these several storm bodies hills, plains, mountains and peaks stood revealed as far as the eye could see, all lying in the glory of a late October sun. The gleaming peaks that rise golden far above the black masses of storm as they raged in fury at the mountain bases and far up the rocky sides made a particularly striking and awesome part of that strange picture."—Washington Star.

MORE FLAGPOLES THAN EVER.

Growing Disposition Among the People to Show Their Colors.

"Flagpoles," said a man who makes them, "are the pick of the forest whence they come. Up to 60 feet in length, and this would include the great majority, they are commonly of spruce; flagpoles more than 60 feet long are of pine.

"The spruce poles come from New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. The pine poles come from northern New York and Michigan.

"Up to 50 feet in length and a 50 foot staff would be counted a good, big staff. Flagpoles cost, all set up, truck on the top and halyards rove, ready to bend on the flag, from $1 to $1.25 a foot. The cost depends somewhat on the pole and somewhat on the situation, the latter question involving the difficulties attending setting the pole up. Longer poles cost proportionately more. A 75 foot pole might cost, set up ready for use, $150. Flagpoles for buildings are sometimes made up to 80 feet in length, but not often.

"A 50 foot pole of the usual proportions, which would be 10 inches in diameter at the butt and 4 inches at the top, would weigh about 850 pounds. A 75 foot pole would weigh about 1,500 pounds, so that when you put up a pole of that size you would be standing upon one end a weight of three-quarters of a ton.

"Of course the flagpole must be securely set up. There are two ways of mounting a flagpole. One is to step it, running the lower end of the pole through the roof as you would run a mast through the deck of a boat. The other way is to set the butt of the pole in a shoe placed on the roof. The very tallest poles are always stepped through the roof.

"A good flagpole, properly put up and properly cared for, is long lived. It might wear as long as the building on which it was placed. A flagpole really ought to be painted every year. Flagpole painting is done by the riggers employed by flagpole makers, by steeple climbers, by men who make a business of it, who go about seeking flagpoles to paint. To have a flagpole carefully and properly painted costs, according to the size of the pole, $5 to $10.

"Flagpoles are made nowadays rather longer, if anything, than formerly. Their greater length is to make them more nearly proportionate to the higher buildings.

"There are now sold more flagstaffs than ever before in proportion to the population. The law requiring the flying of the flag from schoolhouses has increased the actual number of poles, and the presence of those poles and the flying of the flag from them has prompted the raising of other poles. I think also that people are more likely now to put up flagpoles than they formerly were; anyway, that they have more disposition now than ever to show their colors."—New York Sun.

Free With Every Bottle.

Customer—I hear you give away a dime novel with every bottle of that great tonic of yours.

Barber—Guess that's a mistake, sir. It's so cheap we couldn't afford to. Who told you that?

Customer—A friend of mine. He said every bottle had a hair raising story printed on the label.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Not Afraid of Her.

"Why are you putting all those sharp, daggerlike things in your hat?" asked the husband of Mrs. Strongmind.

"I am hoping the hat snatching woman will grab it in her hands while I am down town," replied Mrs. Strongmind, closing her lips firmly and putting a few more sharp and glittering stickpins in her headgear.—Chicago Tribune.

That Was Different.

"Never mind," said the comforter to the rejected lover. "Don't let one refusal deter you. Ask her again. A woman's no often means yes."

"A woman's no may sometimes mean yes," replied the rejected one, "but I am convinced that a woman's 'nit' means no."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Her Preference.

Jack—Don't you think that woman, as a rule, prefers a man who is her master?

Ethel—Not at all. She prefers one who think he is.—Smart Set.

TRICKS IN ALL TRADES.

Lapidaries Who Substitute Stones That Are "Just as Good."

A Chicago jeweler was handed a New Mexico garnet the other day with the request that he have it cut for a ring setting. Two days later he sent for his customer, and when the latter came he said:

"I am afraid to have that stone cut."

"Why?"

"Well, I am not sure that what I give to the lapidary will be returned to me. He may substitute a stone."

"How do you know?"

"I took your garnet to a lapidary with an order to cut it at once. He looked it over and then handed me a cut stone, with the remark that that would do in its place. Then I found out that this lapidary at least, if not others, when receiving a stone in the rough finds it cheaper to substitute an already cut stone of similar color than to cut the original."

The customer finally had the stone cut in carbuncle form for a pin, but to this day he is not satisfied that he received back the stone which he originally turned over to the lapidary. In the matter of ordinary ring settings it is easy to make substitutions without it being possible for even an expert to know that the change has been effected. The owner of a garnet in the rough has no means of proving when it has been cut that it is the stone he first possessed. He takes the lapidary's word for it. Another trick which is quite common, but not generally known to customers, is that of substituting hair on customers who desire ornaments of hair made for brooches, pins or chains. A young man secures a lock of hair from his sweetheart and rushes off to have it made into one of those lovely watch chains that look like a centiped with a million legs. He lovingly hands the lock to the hair worker and in a week receives his ornament. But often he does not receive back the hair he gave. The hair worker buys his hair at wholesale. He makes it up into stock ornaments. He simply matches the hair he has received with something in stock—not a difficult matter—his work is completed and his bill ready for collection.

Of course the customer knows no better. So the workman of easy conscience asks, "What is the difference?" There does not seem to be much, only the difference between honesty and dishonesty, and that is no more than the difference between black and white. — Chicago Times-Herald.

He Could Not Spell.

The owner of a small book store in Harlem, desirous of a distinctive name for the same, after some hours of deep cogitation finally hit upon the legend, "Harlem's Literary Mecca." This he thought exceedingly good, and he had a man put it up in enamel letters upon his window. After the job was done he was standing out by the curbstone admiring the effect of the inscription, when he heard an old Irishman who had stopped and was also looking at it soliloquize as follows:

"Well, now, will you luk at that! The cheek of that Scotchman, callin himself 'Haar-r-lem's Literary Mickey,' just to catch some of the Irish trade! An the blackguard don't even know how to spell 'Mickey!'"

The inscription has been removed.—Philadelphia Telegram.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, Pa., was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in the back and sides, and no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying Electric Bitters, and to my great joy and surprise the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed, at R. R. BELLAMY'S drug store.

THE LATEST AS TO NERVES AND STRENGTH

It is not muscle so much as the nerves back of muscle which show one's strength and power of endurance. And the study with able physicians of to-day is how to keep the nerves in perfect health and fitted for the strain of everyday living. Headache of every type, nerve weakness, dyspepsia, sleeplessness, languor, restlessness, nervous dyspepsia, muscular weakness, brain weariness, poor circulation,—a thousand different unpleasant feelings and symptoms are due to nerve waste and nerve weakness,—especially in women and children. But how can all this be prevented, one will ask? How can my broken-down constitution be repaired, and nerve strength and full, robust health be secured. Just two points to remember: Determine that you will grow strong in nerves and health, and decide to use at once that most famous nerve cure, COCKELIN. It is delicious in taste, quick in action and makes the wearied nerves tingle with renewed strength and every function the stronger and faculty the brighter by its use. Druggists sell it.

SUNDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 1.

COTTON CROP OUTLOOK.

The Prospect Less Favorable to a Large Yield Than Was Generally Accepted a Month Ago.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 31.—In connection with its regular review of the movement and conditions in the cotton trade, the New Orleans Trade Index to-morrow will say concerning the crop of the commercial year just opening:

"The new crop is commencing to move in the western districts and first bales have been numerous in all sections. The prospects of the crop are upon the whole less favorable to a large yield than was generally accepted a month ago. Some improvement in condition was made during the first days of August, but latterly complaints of damage by the continued drought in central and north central Texas have been frequent. In view of the facts shown in the rain table, compiled from government records, it may be questioned whether these complaints are in all cases well founded. That some points have suffered is plain, but the moisture recorded while not heavy has been too generally distributed to make an absolute failure probable. In the East the complaint has been from the reverse cause. Too much rain causing rust and shedding, reducing it is said, a previously fair prospect to a very different promise. The section tributary to New Orleans has apparently fared better than other portions of the belt. Its crop is in good condition.

Galveston's Receipts.

GALVESTON, TEXAS, August 31.—The Galveston News' trade edition, of September 1st, places the Texas cotton crop for the season just closed at 3,508,286 bales; an increase of 1,085,612 bales over the previous year. Galveston's cotton receipts for the season were 2,177,983 bales; an increase of 467,720 bales over the previous season.

SHAMROCK THE SECOND.

Speed Trial Over a Measured Course—The Results Considered Favorable by Sir Thomas Lipton.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The sixth trial spin of Shamrock II. to-day, thanks to a stiff breeze from the southwest, developed into a speed trial over a measured course, the results of which are considered favorable by Sir Thomas Lipton and his friends.

Sir Thomas said yesterday that when Mr. Jameson arrived he would be in absolute charge of the yacht. He was on board the Shamrock to-day and in charge every minute of her trial, judging from the masterly way in which she was handled. Instead of going out to sea, he had the yacht sent twice up and down the main ship channel, from the southwest sprit to Staten Island and back, almost every mile of which is marked by government buoys, with the result that by simple calculations it was found the yacht had travelled over certain portions of the course at the rate of fourteen knots an hour. Sir Thomas Lipton, guaging her speed by that of the Erin, claims half a knot more. Perhaps he was right; at any rate the yacht could have carried more sail than she did, and so may be able later on to make good his assertion.

A SENSATIONAL TURN.

Members of Posses Abandoning the Search for the Murderer of Miss Mary Henderson in Missouri.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

KANSAS CITY, MO., August 31.—The hunt for "Bossie" Francis, the alleged murderer of Miss Mary Henderson at Columbus has shifted to Strasburg, west of Holden. Every foot of country around that town is being scoured. At noon it was believed the posse was close to the fugitive. The killing of Miss Henderson took a sensational turn this afternoon when the chase was practically given up. The bloodhounds refused to take the scent and it was hinted broadly that the fugitive had made good his escape by the aid of white persons. A special from Strasburg says:

"Many original members of the posses have given up in disgust and have discarded their guns, saying they regret the search ever was begun. There are dozens of men in Johnson county who believe that Francis was paid to murder Miss Henderson by white persons who wanted to get her out of the way. As the case stands now it is believed that Francis, if captured, will be tortured for the purpose of making him tell what he knows."

DELAWARE RIVER DISASTER.

List of Dead as Result of Explosion Now Reaches Twenty-one.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

PHILADELPHIA, August 31.—The list of dead as the result of the explosion of a boiler on the steamboat City of Trenton on the Delaware river last Wednesday, has now reached twenty-one. Sixteen bodies have been identified and five still await identification at the morgue. Eight bodies were recovered to-day in the vicinity of the disaster. Nine persons are missing and the five unidentified are probably among this number.

The Federal and State inspectors to-day began an investigation of the hull of the City of Trenton, which is docked at Neafie and Levy's ship yard. The port boiler which exploded is still at the bottom of the river, having been blown out of the bottom of the boat.

THIRTY-SIX MEN LOST THEIR LIVES.

Terrible Disaster to a Train On the Great Northern Railway in Montana.

NO PASSENGERS WERE HURT.

Only Thirteen Were Taken From the Debris Alive and They Were Injured—Fire Followed the Collision, Burning the Bodies of the Dead.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

KALISPELL, MONT., August 31.—Thirty-six lives were lost and thirteen persons were injured in a wreck on the Great Northern railway, of passenger train No. 3, at Nyack, thirty miles west of Kalispell last night. None of the passengers was injured the fatalities having been confined to employes of the railroad company.

The dead: D. P. Downs, assistant general superintendent of the Great Northern lines west of Monsted; Kart Downs, his son; Henry Blair, cook aboard the private car of Mr. Downs; thirty-three Scandinavian laborers, names unknown.

Injured: Thirteen Scandinavian laborers, names unknown.

The wreck was caused by the breaking in two of a freight train on the steep grade of a Rocky Mountain foot hill. The rear end of the freight tore loose from the head end, dashed backward down the mountain and crashed nto the rear end of the passenger train which was just pulling out of the station at Nyack. The car attached to the rear end of the passenger was the private coach of Superintendent Downs. He and his son Kirk and their cook, Henry Blair, were instantly killed. The car just ahead contained forty-six Scandinavian laborers en route from Duluth, Minn., to Jennings. They were killed wholesale. Only thirteen were taken from the debris alive.

Fire Followed Collision.

Fire, immediately following the collision, quickly destroyed the private car, cremating the bodies of those within. The flames were quickly communicated to the car ahead, or rather to what remained of it, and the bodies of twenty-eight of the unfortunate laborers also were cremated. The third car from the rear also was burned, but those within managed to escape when the collision first occurred. The fire continued to spread through the mass of debris caused by the destruction of a dozen or more freight cars and their consignments of valuable freight.

Finally the passenger train was cut in two between the third and fourth cars from the rear and the balance was drawn to a safe distance from the fire. All telegraph wires on the poles alongside the track were soon melted and communication was thus cut off soon after the collision. Physicians were taken to the scene from this city and all traffic was, for a time, suspended while the wreck and train crews endeavored to rescue the bodies of the dead and clear up the debris.

Another Account.

SPOKANE, WASH., August 31.—Reports indicate that the wreck on the Great Northern, forty miles east of Kalispell, Montana, was the worst in the road's history, and one of the most sanguinary in the annals of American railroading. Thirty-four lives are lost and ten persons were injured. Three of the injured will surely die and the others are in a serious condition. By heroic efforts, fifteen of the bodies were taken from the wrecked cars. All the other victims were cremated, including Superintendent P. L. Downs and his son T. Kirk Downs.

There is a severe grade near the scene of the wreck. Two engines had taken a train of twenty-eight cars up this grade, and drawn off to take water. While doing this all the twenty-eight cars started down the grade. The runaway train dashed down the grade at a frightful speed and crashed into the rear of the west-bound passenger No. 3, near the siding at Nyack. Superintendent Downs' private car was attached to the passenger, and next to it was a day coach filled with railroad laborers from Duluth. As the runaway train sped by the switch it struck a caboose and day coach on the siding, wrecking them. Fire immediately started from the oil lamps in the caboose. The point where the wild train crashed into the passenger was several hundred feet away and it was two and a half hours before the flames reached the main wreck. Meanwhile, frantic efforts were made to take out the dead and injured. The wreck was piled and wedged into almost hopeless confusion, and in spite of superhuman efforts the flames burst through the wrecked cars before the work was completed.

J. H. Blair, colored cook in Mr. Down's car, was taken out alive but died in a few minutes. It was impossible to get at the bodies of Superintendent Downs and his son.

The runaway cars tore down the hill at lightning speed, rounding the most severe curves at a speed of upwards of seventy miles an hour, where regular trains barely crawled along. With a roar it burst around the curve, jumped a split switch which would have turned it to the side track and crashed into the passenger. There was neither time nor opportunity for escape. Mr. Downs' car and that of the laborers' were smashed into kindling wood, the occupants of the private car meeting instant death. The debris and shingles and lumber of the freight burned like tinder. The train crew was forced back from its work of rescue by the flames. One man penetrated as far as the private car, where he saw the dead bodies of Mr. Downs and his son, from which he dragged the body of the cook. In the laborers' car many of the forty six occupants were so pinned in that they could not be reached, and were burned before the eyes of the spectators.

The fire was so fierce that the rear sleeper could not be saved, though it had not left the track. Its occupants were hurried into forward cars, which were hauled ahead out of the reach of the fire. The flames extended to the brush alongside the track and burned the telegraph poles.

Colonel Downs' death has cast a gloom over the entire city. He was one of the most popular railroad men ever stationed here. He was 54 years of age and has spent thirty-three years in railroad service. To-morrow he was to have assumed the duties of vice president of the Spokane Falls and Kootenai Valley roads, at the personal request of J. J. Hill. He leaves a widow, now visiting in Bakersfield, Vt., and one daughter, Mrs. Rupert Blue, of San Francisco.

Mr. Downs and his son left Monday in their private car with his guests, Lieutenant Victor Blue, an American naval officer, and wife. They accompanied their guests as far east as Minot, N. D., and were returning home when the wreck occurred. Kirk Downs was about 21 years of age and was employed as secretary by his father.

The postal authorities have decided to place a portrait of General H. W. Lawton, the military hero who lost his life at San Mateo, in the Philippines, on one of the new issue postage stamps.

RACES AT SHEEPSHEAD BAY.

Great Futurity Won by John E. Madden's Yankee—The Stake Worth $36,910 to the Winner

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, August 31.—John E. Madden's Yankee, at 4 to 1 in the betting, won the classic Futurity at Sheepshead Bay to-day, the richest fixture of the American turf. He won by a length and a half from what was perhaps the best and highest classed field which ever ran for the stakes. Lux Casta was second, while Barron finished third. It was a great race and nobly won and a record-breaking crowd of thirty thousand people stood up in their excitement and wildly cheered the victor.

Three races were decided before the Futurity, but the interest was plainly in the classic feature and the crowd waited impatiently to see the stars of the two-year old world parade past the stand on the way to the post.

The betting ring was a seething mass of humanity. The layers were besieged and tons of money poured in. It was almost impossible to fight one's way to the layers to get a bet down. The rank and file could see nothing in the race but the Whitney entry. Nasturtium and King Hanover, opening at 9 to 5, they were quickly played down seven to five and thirteen to ten. The Madden horses, Yankee and Gunfire, were a strong second choice at four to one, but the feeling was not so strong for this combination when Blue Girl was scratched. Heno and De Resseke had a strong following at ten to one, while Barron, the much touted maiden, and Lux Casta were also well played at twelve and fifteen to one, respectively. The others ranged in price from twenty to one to two hundred to one, scattering bets being made on all of them.

The stake was worth $36,910 to the winner, while the second horse earned $4,166.66 and the third horse $2,083.34. Two thousand dollars went to the breeder of the winner; $1,050 to the breeder of the second horse and $500 to the breeder of the third horse. The total stake was $46,910. A. Featherstone, whose jockey rode the winner, got twenty-five per cent. of the winner's share for allowing O'Connor to ride. William C. Whitney also had some balm in the fact that he owns a half interest in Yankee, although it was a keen disappointment not to see his colors in front. Those at the start say Nasturtium started off well, but jumped at a dark spot in the track, losing ground and being shut out.

O'Connor carried off the jockey honors of the day, riding three winners in Ogden, Yankee and Knapsack. The other races were interesting and well contested and the crowd felt well repaid in a good day's sport.

ALL QUIET ON THE ISTHMUS

Indications Lead to Belief That There Will be No War Between Venezuela and Colombia.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

COLON, August 31.—Quiet prevails on the isthmus The recent Liberal concentration in this vicinity seems to have disappeared. Whatever their numbers, the Liberals are poorly armed and without leaders, lack organization for concerted action, and hence can avail themselves of no opportunities to damage the government. Endless rumors are afloat, but the concensus of the best informed Conservative opinion discredits serious hostilities or anything more than a continuation of the Liberals' guerilla system of engagements with the government's forces. The Liberals are anxious to get a seaport, and hence their recent approach to Bocas del Toro, west of here. The government is not bringing reinforcements to the isthmus. There are about four hundred men at Colon, and at Panama a thousand men are available, if needed.

Various indications lead to the belief that there will be no actual warfare between Colombia and Venezuela. The political revolutionists of both countries in past years have time and time again jumped across the frontier when pressed, from one side or the other, and have continually used, as the necessity arose, one or the other country as a place of refuge in preparing expeditions against the established authority of the other country.

It should be borne in mind that the frontier offers indefensible protection to Colombians and Venezuelans of both political parties. It has been the favorite field of operations for the revolutionists of both countries, and those conditions have exercised on the frontier whenever either Colombia or Venezuela has had a revolution on hand. Hence numberless stories emanate from the frontiers.

It is said here that Colombia has over 10,000 men on the Equadoran frontier.

Exequators Withdrawn.

WILLEMSTED, Island of Aquracao, Aug. 31 (via Haytien cable).—The Exequators of all consuls of the United States of Colombia in Venezuela have been withdrawn.

COLON, COLOMBIA, August 31.—Bocas del Toro to which place the government sent reinforcements last week, is still quiet. The rebels are encamped on Provision island, opposite the town, while the town itself is occupied by government troops. The trade of Bocas del Toro is mostly in bananas with the United States.

CENSUS BUREAU BULLETIN.

Giving Number of Persons of School, Militia and Voting Ages in North Carolina in 1900.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The Census Bureau to-day issued a bulletin giving the number of persons of school, militia and voting ages in North Carolina in the census year 1900. In North Carolina persons of school age are practically all of native birth, the foreign born element of this class constituting only one-tenth of one per cent. of the whole number in the State.

Colored persons of school age constitute 34.9 per cent. of the whole number of persons of school age and compromise chiefly persons of negro descent.

Males of voting age are substantially all of native birth, only sixtenths of one per cent. of the whole number being of foreign birth. Among males of voting age, as a whole, there is a considerable proportion of illiterates, the percentage being 29.4. This somewhat large percentage is due principally to the presence among males of voting age of a large number of illiterate persons of negro descent.

The figures are as follows: Children of school age, 753,826, of whom 480 are foreign born, 363,044 colored, 377,611 males and 376,215 females. Males of militia age 336,202, of whom 1,346 are foreign born and 99,626 colored. Males of voting age 417,578, of whom 2,530 are foreign born and 126,315 colored.

VICTORY FOR THE STEEL STRIKERS.

Closed Down One of the Plants of the Carnegie Steel People.

EEFORTS TO COMPROMISE.

Conference Between President Schwab of the Steel Corporation and a Labor Leader — Result Not Known. More Men Seeking Work.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 31.—The steel strikers are claiming to-night the biggest victory since the fight began, in the closing down of the open hearth department of the Duquesne iron works. Amalgamated people claim that the open hearth men have struck and the entire plant will have to close down when the men fail to return Monday night for work. The Carnegie steel people make light of the matter, and say the close down of the open hearth department to-day was merely the usual Saturday afternoon close, and maintain that the men will be on hand for work Monday, as heretofore, and no stoppage will result. They claim the trouble at the plant Friday night has been exaggerated very much; that instead of a large number of men having quit work, only a few boys were escorted from the mills by policemen and the places of the ejected were filled at once.

Until to-morrow night it will not be known certainly which side is right in its contention—the Amalgamated people claim to be able to tie up the plant, and the steel company say they will resume without any material inconvenience.

Reported Conference.

Aside from this incident, the reported conference by long distance telephone between Schwab, of the steel corporation, and Simon Burns, president of the Window Glass Workers Association, was the only other happening to cause comment. It seems that the two gentlemen really communicated with each other by phone, but what the subject or result was is not known. Mr. Burns is mysteriously silent and says he can say nothing just yet.

It is learned from another source that during the extended wire conversation, Mr. Schwab told Mr. Burns that he would not consent to meet any representatives of the Amalgamated Association until all the mills of the United States Steel Corporation thrown idle by the order of President T. J. Shaffer are put in operation again by the former employes of the corporation returning to their work. He told Mr. Burns, it is said, that the striking members of the Amalgamated Association are no longer employes of the United States Steel Corporation. Hence there is no reason why he should meet any representative of the Association. But if they voluntarily re-enter the employment of the corporation, it is said, Mr. Schwab is willing to listen to any grievance they may desire to lay before him with reference to their work and wages. And it is further intimated that he will consent to allow these grievances to be submitted by the officers of their union.

Talk of Settlement.

Mr. Burns called on Mr. Shaffer this afternoon. He refused to state what passed at the conference, but he is hopeful that President Sebwab will accord him an interview to discuss terms of the strike settlement.

The feature of the proposal which it is said impresses the president of the steel combine, is putting the men back to work at once, and then adjusting any differences.

The steel corporation to-day continued to add to its number of men at work in several of the plants that have resumed since the strike began, but the Amalgamated people insist that the additions are of no value and that the strike situation remains without change.

Neither side to the controversy expects much to develop until after Labor Day, outside of the Duquesne probabilities. After Monday, however it is probably decided and effective moves will be made by each.

Something Decisive.

It learned to-night, from reliable authority, in spite of the great secrecy maintained by Messrs. Burns and Shaffer concerning the telephonic conversation between President Schwab and President Burns, that something decisive may result. It is said President Schwab declined to have any conference with President T. J. Shaffer, of the Amalgamated Association, on the ground that he no longer represents any of the men employed by the corporation, all union men having left the employ of the company. If the steel workers are then to go to work at once, and the mills resume operations in full, the whole matter is said to assume a different aspect and a decision between the officials of the Trust and Amalgamated officials can take place.

Immediately after this conversation Mr. Burns went to President Shaffer and urged him to call a meeting of the executive board of the organization at once, so that the men could be ordered to work at the earliest moment possible. It is understood that this order will be issued not later than Tuesday and would have been issued before then had it been possible to get the executive committee of the organization together.

TO MOVE THE CROPS.

Shipments of Money South and West Heavier This Season Than Usual.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, August 31.—The shipments of money from the treasury to the South and West for the movement of crops have been much heavier this season than ever before. Treasurer Roberts said to-day that at the close of August, 1899, there had been transferred to the sub-treasuries at Chicago, New Orleans and St. Louis the sum of $2,118,500. At the close of the same month in 1890 the total was $8,400,000, and at the close of business at the treasury to-day the total was $7,250,000, of which New Orleans has received $2,535,000. The currency is shipped, as a rule, one-fourth in silver certificates up to $5, one-fourth in United States notes of the denomination of $10 and the remainder in gold certificates. Gold coin is not in demand for crop moving purposes.

Admiral Schley yesterday acknowledged the receipt of Acting Secretary Hackett's communication, enclosing a copy of Rear Admiral Howison's letter made public yesterday. It is very probable if Secretary Long reaches Washington before the court convenes, Admiral Schley's counsel will communicate with him in regard to Admiral Howison's eligibility as a member of the court of inquiry, and endeavor to settle the matter before the tribunal meets.

COLUMBIA WON THE RACE.

Beat Constitution Fairly and Squarely. May Yet be Cup Defender.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 31.—The Columbia, splendidly handled, beat the Constitution to-day four minutes and nineteen seconds, corrected time, over a course of fifteen miles to windward and back, in the first of the trial races to select the cup defender. The defeat was decisive, and admirers of the Constitution are at their wits end to make apologies and excuses for her bad behavior. The Constitution was beaten fairly and squarely on her merits, and unless she sails better on Monday and Wednesday the committee which has the matter in charge may decide upon selecting the Columbia to meet Shamrock II.

The warning gun was fired at 11:35. The skipper of the Columbia planted his craft on the weather side of his rival and hampered him in the usual manner, keeping him under his lee. The boats stood for the line and in their efforts to beat each other both crossed the line on the starboard tack a few seconds before the starting gun was fired. Three short blasts of the whistles recalled both of the boats. The Columbia turned round smartly on her heel, and coming round again on the starboard tack shot over the line well to the windward of the Constitution, whose skipper seemed to be remarkably slow. Both yachts went about on the port tack immediately after crossing the line. The Constitution was kept broad off the breeze, her skipper hoping thereby to avoid the back wind of the Columbia. It was marvellous to see the Constitution gradually sag off to leeward, in weather that was supposed to be just picked out for her. The wind, after the yachts had been out about three-quarters of an hour, hustled to the eastward and the Columbia getting it first, being in the lead, was able to luff up to it before the Constitution came within its influence. The force of the wind was about nine miles at the start and it freshened a little as the day grew older.

After rounding the outer mark the Columbia set her balloon jib-topsail. The Constitution set her balloon jib-topsail thirty-five seconds after she made the turn, beating the Columbia by five seconds. This is the first time in her history that her crew has shown any real smartness. Next both craft set balloon staysails and with the wind on the starboard quarter steered for Brenton's reef lightship—the home mark. Little by little the Columbia forged ahead, inch by inch increasing the gap of blue water between herself and her rival. White caps crested the waves under the influence of the freshening breeze and the followers of the Constitution were disappointed to see her fall astern. Columbia had her beaten badly. When she crossed the line a victor she was vigorously saluted.

SEAGIRT RIFLE RANGES.

Marksmen Busy From Early Morning Until Sundown—The Contest for the Wimbledon Cup.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—From early morning until after sundown to-day the rifle and revolver marksmen were busy on the Seagirt ranges. Several contests were decided, the principal one being that for the Wimbledon cup, for which American citizens only were eligible to compete.

Captain W. B. Martin, of Trenton, won the cup, with a total of 137 points. Corporal Casey of the 71st regiment had 135 and Captain Corri of the 12th regiment, New York, came next with 134.

The Irish Rifle shooters watched the American marksmen closely during the contest so as to get a line on their work in anticipation of what they may expect to meet in their special match next Friday. The scores of the leaders were very good, but the general opinion prevails that the Irish visitors are much superior in execution. Six teams of five men each took part in the revolver team match which was won by the representatives of Battery A, of Boston. Their total score was 596 points.

In the inter-club match for the Scheutzen team championship of the United States the honors went to the first team of the Zettler Rifle Club, of New York city, with a total score of 382 points.

In the Schuetzen continuous matches on the standard American and German ring targets, Dorrler, of the Zettler Rifle Club, of New York, led all other contestants by 137 points on the former and 209 points on the latter target.

THREATENED RACE CONFLICT.

Result of a Murderous Assault On a White Man by a Negro in Bath County, Virginia.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

RICHMOND, VA., Aug. 31.—A special from Hot Springs, Bath county, this State, says:

William A. Dudley, an overseer, was assaulted and perhaps fatally wounded by a negro named Allen Franklin to day. The assailant fled after his crime, and when a party started after him over the mountains, the negroes in town armed themselves and started after the fugitive's pursuers. So threatening was the conduct of the colored people that it was necessary to organize a sheriff's posse to follow in the wake of the riotous negroes. At one time it looked as if a serious race conflict was imminent, but later in the day the negro band was halted, arrested and disarmed.

The fugitive is still at large, and no more trouble is apprehended. Precautions are being taken against lynching, in the event of the fugitive's arrest.

ABSCONDING BOOK-KEEPER.

Arrested in Baltimore, Charged With Embezzlement.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 31.—Chief of Police Joseph J. Adkins, of Knoxville, Tenn., arrived here to day, bearing a requisition, signed by Governor Benton McMillin of that State, for Robert Duncan, aged fifty years, who is wanted on the charge of the embezzlement of $3,500 from the Southern Brass and Iron Company.

Duncan was arrested and committed to the custody of the chief of police, who left with his prisoner for Knoxville.

The alleged embezzlement was committed in July, 1900, after which Duncan and his family left the State. The authorities have been searching for him ever since, and finally located him here. Duncan was bookkeeper for the firm.

It requests a resumption of diplomatic relations between the two countries with a view to reaching a satisfactory settlement of the matters in dispute.
